

The Love I've Never Found

You are the answer to every prayer I've offered,
You are the finale to my loneliest song,
You are the light ending my darkest tunnel,
You are a dream, a whisper, the rustle of the leaves,
You are my today and all memories retrieved.
You are the glisten of the water, the warmth of the sun,
You are so many things and paradoxically only one,
You are my trust, security, safety and home,
Within you I've found solace, never feel alone.
You are the shaft of sunlight crossing the sky,
You are the answer to my constant questioning why,
You are the net to contain me, my boundaries, myself,
You are here for me alone, not for anyone else,
You are my strength when I've given up the fight,
You are the dawn to my fretful, wakeful night.
You are the opposite to me yet somehow we connect,
Happy memories made together, lest we forget,
You are the twinkle in my eye, the answer to my cry,
You are the certainty to my doubt, the truth to my lie,
Without you there is no me for you are my entirety,
You are my love, sent from up above, you complete me.

©Copyright Sophia Sims